

Our / VODKA

DIFFERENT CITIES. DIFFERENT VODKAS. SAME FAMILY.

Global, yet local. Our/Vodka teams up with local entrepreneurs around the world to give selected cities their very own urban vodka. The vodka is partly distilled, blended and hand bottled in micro-distilleries in each city. All cities share the same secret recipe, but the ingredients are sourced as locally as possible which gives each vodka a unique character.

The idea to create a vodka that is both global and local was born in Stockholm in 2010. Founder and CEO Åsa Caap developed the idea together with four entrepreneurs from the Swedish agency Great Works. Our/Vodka was treated as a black ops project under the umbrella of Pernod Ricard before the first micro-distillery opened up in Berlin in 2013.

Today, Our/Vodka is a global family of local partners in different cities around the world. These entrepreneurs are driven by a love for their city, and a love for doing things for real. After the launch, the partners are in charge of building their local Our/Vodka brand and business the way they feel best suited for their city. Within the Our/Vodka family, the distilleries are siblings with the same genes, but with their own unique personalities.
